Local Company Earns Honors as Logistics Provider Andersen Corporation names DRT Transportation Partner of the Year

(Lebanon, PA) October 10, 2016 – Window and door manufacturer Andersen Corporation named DRT Transportation of Lebanon its Partner of the Year during a recent logistics provider conference.

“The DRT team consistently delivers on time and keeps an open line of communication with Andersen and our customers,” said Scott Wheeler, Andersen Corporation director of logistics and transportation. “For years DRT has had a reputation of providing creative solutions in challenging situations for Andersen. Their flexibility in taking multi-stop loads and additional business demonstrates the strong partnership between our two companies.”

DRT has been an Andersen partner since 2011. In 2015 the company assumed responsibility for one of Andersen’s highest-volume transportation routes. Wheeler said that DRT’s performance not only exceeded expectations, but also had a positive effect on customer service.

“A high level of service is one of the most important ways Andersen continues to lead the industry,” Wheeler said in presenting the award. “DRT has proven this time and again with their proactive communication to both Andersen and our customers, making DRT one of our most reliable carriers.”

“I am humbled that a well-established company whose products are a household name has honored us for our work,” said Robert Kemp, DRT president. “Our goal has always been to serve as a true partner by not just completing the work but helping our customers grow and become more successful.”
